Eastern Collegiate Debating Tournament Entered By UB

by Gil Strunk

The University Debating Society, enjoying a more ambitious schedule, and a greater success than ever before in its history, will offer four consecutive debates this Saturday, at Hofstra College's "Eastern Colleges Intercollegiate Debating Tournament."

Members of this year's team are James Halsey Jr., president; Geraldine Bennett, secretary; George Chamberlain, Henry Southwick, Mrs. Marion Fry, Peter Baldino, Willard Carter and Gil Strunk. Serving as advisor to the group is Mr. William Banks.

Debating the resolution that "The United States should adopt a policy of free trade," the team made a good showing at UConn last fall. Thus far, the team has won splits with New Haven State Teacher's College, Brooklyn College, New York University, University of Connecticut, and Danbury State Teacher's College. This week's schedule includes the formidable Hofstra's Intercollegiate Debating Tournament, at Hempstead, L. I.

Students will get a chance to see the team in action, at a convocation debate with Fairfield, at 4 P. M., May 3, in T-101.

A debate with West Point is scheduled in two weeks.

The Debating team is interested in gaining new members and is seeking novice debaters. Students interested should contact any member of the group, or Mr. Banks.

Wistaria Queen Nominations Open

Nominations for her majesty, the Wistaria Queen 1954, are now open to the student body. Blanks for candidates may be obtained at the Student Activities Office, 2nd floor, Alumni Hall, and will be available beginning Monday.

The Social Activities Committee has announced a new procedure to choose this year's Queen. Finalists will be chosen by a group of impartial judges, consisting of prominent citizens of the surrounding communities. After the finalists are chosen, voting will be open to the student body.

Fraternities and sororities are urged to submit candidates, as well as individual nominations. Her majesty will be presented to the University at the annual Wistaria Ball to be held May 7, at the Ritz Ballroom.

Gowned in the traditional white, her majesty will be presented by last year's Queen, Miss Beth Drexler.

Public Speaking Contest Opens At Alumni Tonight

by Howie Broder

The annual Public Speaking Contest, sponsored by the English department of the University of Bridgeport, will be held tonight at Alumni Hall, with the final round to be held April 1, in the Burroughs Library Lecture Hall at 8 P. M.

Saturday Marks Freshman Class 'Dungaree Dance'

Dungarees will be the order of the day Saturday, as the Freshman class of the university plays host to the student body at a square dance to be held at Alumni Hall.

Beginning at 7:30 P. M., Prof. Harry Kendall will commence calling some of the more popular square dances of the year, while the music will be supplied by the Alumni Hall Barnsmen, a group of farmers rounded up from the entire state.

Stag or drag, the dance will be an informal affair, with a nominal charge for admission. However, the committee has issued notice that the males should not stay away for lack of a date.

Don't forget this square dance is just one of the events scheduled for this 'No-Go-Home Week-end.'

The following day, will see the faculty compare their athletic ability with that of the student body at a softball game, to be played at Seaside Park. Following the game there will be a buffet dinner and a feature film.

One representative from each of the 15 speech sections will vie for top honors, although this contest is not limited to those students enrolled in speech courses.

Mr. Howard Adelstein, director of the Jewish Community Center, and Mr. Lee Salisbury, speech and dramatic teacher at Roger Ludlowe High School, will be the judges.

The rules for participation in the contest are:

1. Speeches may be on any topic, with a maximum time limit of ten minutes imposed on the speaker.

2. Speeches are not to be memorized or read from prepared manuscripts, but notes may be used.

Last year's winner, Gilbert Hellwing, was awarded an Underwood typewriter as first prize, donated by the Underwood Corp. Second prize was a Parker "51" pen donated by Spector's Inc., while the third prize was a Webster New Collegiate Dictionary contributed by the Open Book Shop.

The following students have already been selected to represent their respective sections: Sol Goldwasser, Thomas Moore, Theodore Sternklar, Geraldine Bennett, Ronald Buebendorf, Henry Southwick and Billy-Jane Elson.

Council To Celebrate Sixth Anniversary This Semester

Celebrating its sixth anniversary this month, Student Council has discarded rompers for long pants, and may add another "first" to the University by the end of this semester.

In an announcement made today, the SCRIBE learned that a Student Court, composed of Council members, and possibly non-members, may soon become a reality. Although still in the planning stages, it appears that this tribunal has become a necessity, since Council has decided to exercise its judiciary, as well as legislative and executive powers of late.

Posters and Parking Handled

Having set up poster rules and regulations, Council is now enforcing same. The group has yet to decide whether to handle the parking situation as well. Rules governing parking have been set up, but are not completely in the hands of Council at this writing.

"Thus far in its existence, this sixth Student Council has been more successful than any past Council, and will, by the end of its term, have without question, accomplished far more than of its predecessors," Robert C. Levine, president of Student Council stated at this interview.

He went on to evaluate Council's efforts this year, and expressed hope that an attempt to install music at Marina Hall, sponsored by the Administration, or by Council would not fail. Looking back at their latest victory at Marina, Council notes with

Reading Lab Head Speaks At Confab At U. of Delaware

Miss Gladys Persons, director of the reading laboratory of the University of Bridgeport, delivered a speech entitled "Instruction in Reading on the Secondary Level" recently at the University of Delaware.

The conference was held under the sponsorship of the Department of Education and Reading Clinic at Delaware.

The conference was also attended by Prof. Paul McKee, instructor in the College of Education, Colorado State College, and the author of several textbooks.

Miss Persons included in her talk an explanation of the reading laboratory at UB.

School Editors Meet Here For Journalism Workshop

Pi Delta Epsilon, national honorary journalism fraternity, will again sponsor its annual workshop for high school editors throughout the state, it was announced today by Phil DuBreuil, president of the local chapter.

Listing Saturday, April 10, as the date, the workshop will be manned by members of the SCRIBE, Wistaria and Helicon, in addition to Pi Delta members now active in the professional field.

Listed 100 Last Year

Last year, approximately 100 high school editors, staff members and faculty advisors attended the all-day affair, which included a visit to the Bridgeport Post and various individual departmental

Bishop To Speak Here

"The Revival of Religion in Education" will be the topic of the Most Reverend Bishop Lawrence J. Shean, D. D., who will address students at 10:30 A. M., March 30, at T-101.

Convocation credit will be given for attendance. Faculty members and non-students are also invited to hear the talk.

How Do You Rank?

Where do you stand in the annual University of Bridgeport "Idiot of the Year" contest? Don't say you haven't heard about it, because you've probably been one of its foremost contestants since you've been driving a car.

All you need to enter is a big car, small brain, and a total disregard for your fellow students. Now that you are fully qualified, the idea is to win first place. As a college student, you should find these rules relatively easy to follow:

1. Blow your horn loud and long at all times.
2. Be a big show-off and race up and down Park Place between classes. Every student you hit adds points to your score. Instructors count double.
3. Always take corners on two wheels. This four wheel stuff is strictly for prep schools. Remember, you're a college student so act accordingly.
4. Jam on your brakes when you see a friend. Especially when there is someone else in the front seat. Cracking your best friend's skull against the dash board ranks high with the judges.
5. Always drink before you drive. So what if your capacity is two beers? Show your friends what a real man you are. Keep drinking with them, and treat your friends to a real thrill by giving them "the more I drink, the better I drive" routine. They will love it, the judges consider drunken driving the biggest point maker of all.
6. When you see a friend crossing the street, race up to him and see how close you can come to hitting him. If your brakes fail — so what! Think of the thrill you gave him.
7. Never look before tearing into a parking lot. If someone is getting out of a car — hit him! You can always say you were late for your classes.
8. There are a few other rules, but to mention them all would be a waste of time. You probably know them all by heart anyway. If you feel you have followed all the rules faithfully and deserve first prize, just drop into Lakeview Cemetery any old night. (There is positively no DEADline) and Chief Judge Violent Death will personally award you first prize.

Second and third prizes will be awarded at any Bridgeport hospital by Judge Crippled for Life and Judge Fractured Bones.

This second and third place stuff, however, is not for you. You are definitely a big deal, so live up to it. Don't settle for anything less than first prize.

It is up to you chum. UB's annual "Idiot of the Year" award is yours for the asking!

"Smith! Keep your eyes on your own paper."

Spring In Season Five Days; Hits Campus With A Bang

Spring has sprung, and if you don't believe it watch for these invariable signs, which perhaps go along with some of your own.

1. The first of nature's meta-pause to be seen on campus is the ever popular crewcut.
2. Bridge in Alumni Hall given way to scabble on the lawn, closely followed by tennis at Seaside (and of course, wrestling is always in vogue).
3. Students looking over possible sites at the beach for their summer cabanas.
4. Intellectual talks at Alumni Hall have given way to chit chats at Marina Circle.
5. Sex replaces McCarthyism as the favorite after dinner subject at Marina.
6. Student organizations fighting to get their share of any Student Council "end of the year" surplus.
7. Profs. and students making plans for those dream trips to Europe during the summer.
8. Prof. Weber looking for places to hang pictures for his annual Spring art fair.
9. Dixie cups clattering up the front of Alumni Hall.

10. Athletes running around Seaside Park trying to impress our campus cuties.

In case you still aren't convinced, that Sir Robin, the shy crocus, and those green blades of grass times are here, take a walk through Seaside Park. When Barnum's statue winks at you, you'll know the lovin' season of the year has arrived.

HOWLAND'S

by Don Burke

The intention of any good newspaper man, whether he is new to the game or an old pro, is to present the facts as he sees them without prejudice or favoritism. I believe that Mickey Vail in his last installment of UNVAILING SPORTS, which appeared on this page last week, abided by all the ethics of the newspaper profession. However, the repercussions from his critical article which accused a basketball player who was left home from the NAIA tournament of being disloyal to his own team, have been so great that I have been asked by the accused ballplayer to publish his side of the story.

OPEN LETTER TO MICKEY VAIL

"In reference to Mickey Vail's slanderous column last week about a particular incident involving one of the 'Four' left home from the Kansas City basketball trip, I would like to state the following: Is it conceivable that a player who has had nothing but faith and spirit in a team of which he was a loyal member suddenly turn about face and show the disdain that was so wrongly stated in your article? (UNVAILING SPORTS). It is true that the jolt of being left behind could somewhat dismantle a player, but I say in all truth that my feeling for the others I have enjoyed playing and associating with could not have possibly changed. If any resentment had existed I would say it would have been directed at the University itself and not the team.

"Opinions, misconstrued and wrongly presented should never be printed and have ruined many an innocent man. If you had used your eyes and not your ears and wide imagination you could have seen that such an incident is inconceivable. Besides, the known fact that I would have to come in contact with these self-same teammates during and after the season, would show that such a public display could never be presented as fact relates. Please! Investigate facts in the future. What you have done to me on paper can never be rectified, however, by writing this I sincerely hope to recover the face I should have never lost."

CLINKSCALES BACKS UP THE ACCUSED

"After due consideration and investigation, I have come to the unbiased conclusion that the above has been accused unjustly. I know his character is beyond reproach on this subject. In my mind it was a misconceived situation, and the matter is unquestionably closed. I believe in this person and speaking for the team, I know they do too."

(Signed) Alvin Clinkscapes - Co-Captain

Ah! The plot thickens. Both sides of the story have been presented by those concerned. What verdict can be reached? Why would Mickey Vail print an article degrading a member of the basketball team for treasonous actions if it were not the truth? On the other hand how could the irreproachable Alvin Clinkscapes stand behind the accused if there was any doubt of his guilt? Decide for yourself.

Cindermen For Season's Opener

by Larry Babich

With the opening of the track and field season less than a month away, coach Walt Kondratovich has his tracksters going through their pre-season workouts at windy Seaside Park.

The cinder and musclemen have been going through strenuous practices in preparation for their opener against Brooklyn Poly on April 23.

The field team has looked exceptionally well with such standouts as Joe Cirone, Bob Mendes and former serviceman Norm Victor in the shot put, all hoping to break the school's record of 40 feet. Paul Hennion returns to his art of javelin throwing, while lanky Phil DuBreuil attempts to break his own school record of 5 feet 11½ inches in the high jump. In the pole vault are such capable competitors as Roland Emery and Sam Bernstein. Ralph Consiglio is the ace in the broad jump.

The runners who have impressed coach Kay with their good showing are Al Clinkscapes, Dick Cipriani, Jim Halsey Jr., Don Margiano, Hans Schneider and Dave Deep. Newcomers to the squad who have a good shot at making the team are Marv Racer, John Kehoe, Stu Mosler and Joe Agostinello.

After the Poly meet, the Purple Knights will engage the New Britain State Teachers on April 28 in the Hardware City.

McKeon Sings The Blues
With Only 14 Days Left

by Mickey Vail

Exactly fourteen days remain before the opening of the University of Bridgeport's 1954 baseball season against St. John's (NY) University, and Johnny McKeon, coach of UB's first baseball team since 1951 is already singing the blues.

Cirone Tries
For Big Time

Many star footballers have come out of the University of Bridgeport, but none have gone into the pro ranks. Joe Cirone, the Purple Knights All-Connecticut end has been offered try-outs by four play-for-pay teams, the Detroit Lions, Los Angeles Rams, Philadelphia Eagles and the Cleveland Browns. "Glue fingers" has accepted the Eagle offer and will report to their training camp in Hershey, Pa. on July 10.

An alumnus of Hartford Bulkley, where he was captain and All-State end, Joe has set two UB records, in passes caught and yardage, gained for an end. Cirone was third in the nation in pass receiving, and was voted the UB quarterback club award along with stellar guard Tony DiMatteo as their most valuable linemen. A Dean's list student, he is majoring in physical education.

With the track season here, Joe is out for the team where he hopes to break another school record, by throwing the 16 pound shot more than 40 feet.

Cold weather, conflicting class schedules and other adverse playing conditions, have cut short practice sessions and the lack of indoor facilities has kept many players from getting into top notch shape.

Taking the wraps off his hopefuls for the first time, McKeon put the boys through their paces in two intrasquad games last week and found little cause for joy as sharp winds cut down on fielding and hitting efficiency.

The pitchers, however, were not as hampered by Long Island Sound's icy blasts as were the others as Mac McCoy, Clyde Umpstadter and Roger Saxton held the "Davins" to two unearned runs, as the 'Callahans' routed the former squad 10-2 in Thursday's encounter.

The most impressive pitching performance of the day was turned in by Gene Zewinski of the losers, who turned in a two inning stint that caused even McKeon to smile, as he gave up two runs and left the game with the score knotted at 2-2.

Jack Liggins, Dick Ganesello, and Don Burke supplied most of the long range blasting with line drives that carried to the outer reaches of Seaside Park, Liggins shot going well over 350 feet.

Tennis Is Reinstated Here
As Bogan Scores A First

Tennis, the most successful sport ever conducted on the University of Bridgeport campus, has been reinstated as a varsity sport. This news came in an announcement from Herbert E. Glines, Director of Athletics early this week, after weeks of campaigning by undergraduates interested in this sport.

Gary E. Singer, spokesman for the group which had spoken to Vice-President Henry W. Littlefield, Athletic Director, Herbert E. Glines and Miss Catherine Bogen, former New England amateur tennis champion, when told of the addition of the sport on a full time, varsity level said, "this is wonderful, we never thought that our dreams for a tennis team would come true."

First Woman Coach

Miss Bogen, who will coach the team, was all for its formation from the moment Singer presented the students' desire to play to her, and accepted the post with a full realization that she must make good in her first season or else, for she will be the first woman coach in the history of the school.

The addition of tennis will bring to nine the number of varsity sports sponsored by the school and will bring the total number of spring sports, normally a "dead" season to four.

No schedule has been released by the athletic department but plans are being made for a full slate of games against major college opposition.

UB SWIMMERS AT AAU

Dick Ellis, Dick Chantland, Frank Anastas and Amilio Wjeko representing Bridgeport in the New England AAU swim meet, placed third in the four hundred yard relay last Saturday at the Payne-Whitney Gymnasium in New Haven.

Golf May Have
Junior Varsity

Coach Al Sherman expressed the possibility of having a Junior Varsity squad play under the ten man varsity team because of the growing popularity of golf here at UB.

The enthusiasm of prospective candidates at last week's meeting may bring a promise of further improving the already distinctive record set by past years golf squads.

ALONG PARK PLACE

by Andy Demotse

The next time you go through the West door of the Tech Building, be sure you take notice of the lead pipe structure on the outside.

Of course, this may be about anything, but my guess is that it will be a gallows for students who cut too many classes. On the other hand, it may be the foundation for an ivy covered campus, or just a plain and simple rose arbor.

Norm Victor, Air Force vet, who recently returned to his studies here at UB, is again sparkling on the sports scene. Norm tells me he "put the shot" the goodly distance of 40 feet, a record for UB. He has high hopes of being able to toss it 48 feet by the end of the season, and that's quite a toss. . . New Yorker grad Hank Steffens and Marion Campbell telling about their being pinned to all friends here at school. . . Prediction . . . Don Heath's wife will have a baby boy shortly.

Alumni Hall will be turned into a barn this Saturday night when the Freshman Class takes it over for its Dungaree Ball. Everyone is invited, and you can save money if you come drag rather than stag. Dancing begins at 8:30 so be there early.

The lovebug bit and Maureen O'Rourke is the owner of a diamond. Lucky boy is Don Murphy. How would you like a new 1954 Cadillac? You may win one if you enter the contest sponsored by Walter Winchell (A fellow columnist). All you have to do is write a letter stating "Why I would not become a Communist." If he thinks your letter is the best, there's your Caddy. Complete details are in his column.

Nancy Kraut and Joe Campolong latest of the pinned set on campus. . . Joan Losty (Schlott of course) and Herb Rudolph of Stradivarius fame) making sweet and steady music.

Betty Van Winkle will be hearing those wedding bells September, when she and Worcester Polytech senior, Dick Byrnes take the big step. . . Sue Rosner, Hinda Rosen, and Carolyn Pevetty have declared themselves as the tyrants of Linden Hall. This could mean many things, but the girls will not admit what the self-imposed title consists of, or how they plan to use their new-found power.

The girls at Schlott Hall have been complaining about the peeping-tom that is seen around there now and then. Last year they had the same trouble with some guy in a brown derby. Perhaps this is the same fellow back again, minus the hat. (That doesn't leave him with very much).

Things are really popping in ye olde Schlott. Seems the furnace blew up a while back, and last week the Schlott lassies could be seen trotting to and from Fairfield Hall to wash their faces, when the sewerage pipes went the way of good sewerage pipes.

A preview of what the well-dressed college co-ed will wear this summer was presented last week when most of the girls attended Marcia Pederson's party sporting Bermuda shorts and knee socks no less. Most males are alike in that they like to view a girl's gams, but the portion of the leg that is exposed between shorts (long ones) and knee socks (high ones) is not particularly attractive.

April 2 is the date set by the girls in Schlott for their closed dorm party. . . Right after that on April 3, Seaside will have its dorm party, with free punch for all invited guests. Room 34 will do the honors of serving the punchy concoction.

St. Patrick's day is passed, but it should never go without mention of how cute Sally was that day with her green corsage and green hat, running around the Snack Bar wishing one and all the best wishes in between trips to the dish-washing machine with an armful of dishes.

Be back again next week if the short haircut ever comes back in style.

STUDENT COUNCIL

pride that menus have been posted, listing the week's meals.

Will Visit High Schools

The establishment of a high school visitation committee, to visit the different high schools in Connecticut in an effort to encourage teenagers to attend UB after graduation, is also being sponsored by Council. A film, co-sponsored by Student Government and the Admissions Office, showing life at the University, is in the making, which would be shown at these schools.

Other Council objectives that have been realized this year, have been the revising of the Student Bill of Rights (which still must be passed by the Board of Trustees); the handling of the Jacoby Roundtable discussion at Alumni Hall with General Carlos Romulo; the establishment of representation of Arnold College in Student Government; and establishment of the first successful referendum.

Members of this year's Student Council include: Robert C. Levine, president; Richard Barrett,

A seminar on the use of accounting machines will be co-sponsored by Beta Alpha, honorary Accounting fraternity, and the makers of these machines in the very near future. Pres. Ray Czaplicki has announced that this seminar, and others like it, will be open to the student body.

Membership in Beta Alpha requires that one must be in his Sophomore year, and be enrolled as an accounting major. Mr. Austin Chapman, advisor to the group is available, to discuss membership for interested persons.
